the lobster theory and other analogies for jazz improvisation is a new approach to learning the language of jazz it s a book of musical concepts brought to life through the use of analogies written by greg fishman with illustrations by mick stevens

this book surveys the leading modern theories of property lockean libertarian utilitarian law and economics personhood kantian and human flourishing and then applies those theories to concrete contexts in which property issues have been especially controversial these include redistribution the right to exclude regulatory takings eminent domain and intellectual property the book highlights the aristotelian human flourishing theory of property providing the most comprehensive and accessible introduction to that theory to date the book's goal is neither to cover every conceivable theory nor to discuss every possible facet of the theories covered instead it aims to make the major property theories comprehensible to beginners without sacrificing accuracy or sophistication the book will be of particular interest to students seeking an accessible introduction to contemporary theories of property but even specialists will benefit from the book's lucid descriptions of contemporary debates elena murzello cannot imagine going to the grocery store without a list as she strolls through the aisles she relies on her list to make sure she gets her must haves and to help keep her from grabbing items she does not need it was with this theory in mind that at age twenty one she created a list of characteristics for a potential lifelong mate that still guides her love choices to this day in the love list elena shares her real life experiences as well as information gathered from more than a hundred single divorced and married men and women about the qualities they look for in a life partner abstracting details from her interviews she created a process that anyone can use to create his or her own lists along with introspective questions to ponder elena includes sample lists of characteristics the top three traits both men and women seek in a partner an exploration of different types of relationships and ways to diversify a portfolio of suitors the love list provides practical tips and personal stories to encourage single people to look deep within take risks and learn to rely on their own unique lists while searching for the perfect mate
